Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

Life would be dull indeed if it were not for those little vignettes which occur from time to time.

Take the other night.

We hear this odd screeching sound and, though it was some kind of bird or animal with which we were not familiar.

Got out of bed, dressed, got the flashlight and went outside to take a look.

Came back in. Started toward the bed again and what did we do? Kicked a chair with the right leg and for a moment there we thought that we had literally kicked it off.

Hurt, man it hurt. Sprayed some bug killer on it and made it back to bed.

The screen? Oh, that was the air conditioner in the upstairs window complaining about something or other.

Now comes Mr. E. O. Stone with three large Irish Potatoes, which Miss Hope Howard Hart, of Washington, D.C., formerly of Murray and Dresden, Tennessee, today announced her retirement after serving 36 years as Secretary to two Members of Congress from the 8th Congressional District of Tennessee. She is leaving a post on August 1st that she has held continuously since the start of the 1st Congress on March 4, 1929.

Miss Hart was appointed by the late Representative Jere Cooper, of Dyersburg, Tennessee, after his election in the Fall of 1928. She remained with him until his death in 1967. While working up the affairs of Mr. Cooper's office, she was appointed to the same position by his successor, Representative Robert A. Everett of Union City, Tennessee, and she has remained as Mr. Everett's principal aide until retirement.

"It has been a wonderful 36 years," Miss Hart said, "and I am proud of every day I was privileged to serve two outstanding leaders from my home district. I appreciate these many years of kindness and courtesy to me, and above all the opportunity they have given me to meet, serve and renew acquaintance with so many West Tennessee friends. I have been thrilled to be in the midst of the making of history in Washington. As a Congressional Aide I have known all of our Tennessee Representatives and Senators for the past 36 years and all have been uniformly wonderful to me."

"Mr. Cooper was a top man in Congress for many years and my patriotic feelings were greatly stirred by being near at hand in the midst of the momentous happenings—the adoption of the Designated Party and the exciting New Deal days under President Roosevelt; the event leading up to and the grim, dramatic days of World War II, and the action-filled sessions of Congress in the post-war period."

"Then, when Mr. Everett succeeded to Mr. Cooper's seat, permitting me to stay on as he quickly rose to a trusted and influential position in the Democratic leadership of the House, my cup was filled and running over."

Miss Hart, the daughter of the late Reverend Sterling R. Hart, a Methodist minister, lived in all of the counties in the Eighth District except Crockett. She was born in Cottage Grove, in Henry County, which recently was added to the District. She graduated from high school in Murray, Kentucky and attended West Tennessee Teachers College (now Memphis State University) and became a teacher. She has lived at various times in Dyersburg, Obion, Ridgely, Trenton, Covington, Ripley, and Dresden, in Tennessee and in Bechels and Murray in Kentucky. Dresden was the home of her parents for many years after her father retired from the active ministry.

Miss Hart says, "Much history has been made in Washington in my time, and nobody who has been 'in it' as I have done, has enjoyed it more."

WHEN SILENCE IS BEST

PUBLILIUS SYRUS, an ancient philosopher, is credited with some observations on the virtues of silence and speaking up at the right time and under the right conditions that Senator Robert Kennedy would do well to brush up on.

One was: "Let a fool hold his tongue and he will pass for a sage."

Another: "He knows not when to be silent, who knows not when to speak." And: "I have often regretted my speech, never my silence." "Keep the golden mean between saying too much and too little." "Speech is a mirror of the soul. As a man speaks, so is he."

The above maxims of Publilius Syrus, who lived in the last century before Christ, seem especially applicable to the speech delivered to a graduating class of an international public relations class by the junior senator from New York Friday in his bitter criticism of this administration's foreign policy, and especially to the situation in the Dominican Republic and South Vietnam.

In typical Kennedy tradition he claimed most of the credit for all the gains in foreign relations since 1960 for the late President, his brother, John F. Kennedy, without even so much as a mention of Fidel Castro and his cruel communist rule of Cuba, the shambles in Algeria, and his brother's total misjudging of Ben Bella when he visited Washington; his policy toward De Gaulle which alienated our most loyal European ally, and the coddling of unfriendly rulers in Egypt and Indonesia.

At the very time when our President needs the undivided support of his party leaders, the loyal opposition and every patriotic American, it becomes a former attorney general to utter the least hint of criticism of his administration which is facing a crisis that our President publicly admits "will get much worse before it gets better."

President Johnson has become one of the most controversial Chief Executives in the history of the United States. There are few Americans, regardless of party affiliations, who "go all the way with LBJ." No man who has attempted to get as much done in two years as he has already accomplished can hope to please "all the people all the time," and certainly he has not done so with his civil rights legislation, his policies on taxes, foreign aid, public debt, and foreign relations, but he has nothing to fear as far as support of his military stand is concerned.

Those who do not favor his determination to carry out our commitments in South Vietnam, especially leaders in his own party, may find much wisdom in silence. Even if his opponents are right there is nothing to gain at this time by contributing to an already confused state of affairs.

Sandy Koufax Looks Good For Major League Strikeout Record

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

What started as a year of uncertainty for Sandy Koufax may wind up as one in which he sets a new major league strikeout record plus a National League victory mark for left-handed pitchers.

With a 15-3 won-lost record and 156 strikeouts after the Los Angeles Dodgers' 1964 season, Koufax looks like a good bet to win 25 games and threaten Bob Feller's major league mark of 348 strikeouts in a season.

No National League left-handed pitcher has ever won 25 games. Koufax, who had a 25-5 mark in 1963, is well on his way to becoming the first. He has won his last nine games in succession and figures to make between 17 and 19 starts in the Dodgers' remaining 73 games.

Koufax' road to Feller's major league strikeout mark poses more difficult problems but his season total would come to about 350 if he retains his current strikeout pace and works 130 more innings. Along the way, Koufax undoubtedly will break his own NL mark of 306 strikeouts—set in 1963.

Ninth Straight Win

Koufax, a question mark at the start of the season because of an arthritic ailment in his left elbow, reeled off his ninth straight victory Sunday, a 4-2 decision in the opener of a doubleheader over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Manny Mota's 10th-inning homer enabled the Pirates to win the second game 4-3.

Koufax was tagged for homers by Bob Bailey and Donn Clendenen in the first inning but then shut out the Pirates with three hits the rest of the way. He walked only two batters and struck out 10, Sandy singled home Jeff Torborg for the Dodgers' first run in the third and Los Angeles took the lead in the fourth with the help of an error by Gene Freese.

Freese's bad throw enabled Lou Johnson to reach first base with one out. Singles by Ron Fairly and Jim Lefebvre and Omer Virgil's passed ball produced the runs and a 3-3 Los Angeles lead.

A victory in the second game would have enabled the Dodgers to retain possession of first place but the Pirates pulled out the squelcher when Mota homered off Bob Miller with two out in the 10th. It was the first hit yielded by Miller in 3 1-3 innings but it dealt him his fifth loss and gave Frank Carpin his third victory. Maury Wills had four hits for the Dodgers and Roberto Clemente and Clendenen two each for the Pirates.

Braves Shade Reds
The Milwaukee Braves shaded the Cincinnati Reds 2-1 and the Chicago Cubs scored a pair of 6-0 victories over the St. Louis Cardinals in other NL action. Houston at New York and San Francisco at Philadelphia were rained out.

In the American League, Minnesota topped New York 6-5, Los Angeles blanked Cleveland 2-0 and Detroit topped Kansas City 4-2. Chicago at Baltimore and Boston at Washington were postponed by rain.

Hank Aaron's 17th homer, a two-run shot in the seventh inning, enabled the Braves to top Cincinnati 12-game winner Sammy Ellis with his fourth loss. Ken Johnson received credit for his eighth win although Tony Cloninger pitched the ninth. Johnny Harper had two hits for the Reds, who led the second-place Dodgers, 5/6 to 3/3.

Larry Jackson pitched an eight-inning and Cal Koonce a six-inning shutout. The Braves' 34.570 at Wagner Field, Chicago, is a double shutout. Chris Krug hit a three-run homer in the fourth inning of the first game and Ernie Banks hit a three-run homer in the second game to provide the big blow for the Cubs. Curt Simmons and Ray Sadecki were the losing pitchers for the Cardinals.

COME ON, YOU ROWDIES!—Some of the 30 or so mothers who took up duty with baseball bats to keep rowdies out of Franz Park Playground are shown on guard in St. Louis, Mo. They complain that rowdies have damaged equipment and harassed park users, and they complain about the "seeming laxity of our police department."

Yankees Wear The Scars To Show Killebrew Really Star

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

The New York Yankees wear the scars today to prove that Harmon Killebrew belongs among the stars.

Killebrew will be in the starting lineup against the National League in Tuesday's All-Star game because Bill Skowron of the Chicago White Sox was forced out of the game by an injury.

The Minnesota Twins' muscular, 210-pound first baseman was the second choice of the AL players in their voting but as far as the Yankees are concerned he's the No. 1 choice for potential mayhem. In fact, it may be that the home run Killebrew hit Sunday—just about the time he was replacing Skowron as a first-string All-Star—will be remembered as the most devastating blow struck against the Yankees all season.

Hollywood Scene

The scene could have been set in Hollywood. The Yankees, leading 5-4 in the bottom of the ninth, needed this victory desperately to get into position for a late-season drive. Rich Rollins was on first base, two were out and the count was 3 and 2. Pete Mikkelsen needed only one putout to preserve an important Yankee victory.

But Killebrew blasted the next pitch into the left field stands and the Twins made off with a 6-5 victory that gave them 10 wins in their last 11 games and enabled them to open up a five-game first place lead. It was Killebrew's 10th homer of the season and it gave Jerry Fenson, the fifth Minnesota pitcher, his third victory of the year.

The Yankees had gone ahead in the top of the ninth on Elston Howard's single, an error by Rollins, Joe Pepitone's fly and another error by Fenson. Mickey Mantle played the first seven innings for the Yankees and became the 34th player in history to score 1500 runs by tallying twice.

Indians Lose Again

The Los Angeles Angels shutout the Cleveland Indians 2-0 and the Detroit Tigers beat the Kansas City Athletics 4-2 in other AL games. Chicago at Baltimore and Boston at Washington were rained out.

In the National League, Pittsburgh beat Los Angeles 4-3 after a 4-2 loss. Milwaukee topped Cincinnati 2-1 and Chicago beat St. Louis 6-0 in both ends of a doubleheader. The Houston at New York and San Francisco at Philadelphia games were washed out by rain.

Dean Chance, 5-5 at the 1964 All-Star break, scored his sixth victory against four losses with a seven-inning performance. Chance singled home the first Los Angeles run and the Angels added their other run on an error by third baseman Max Alvis. Lee Stange suffered his second loss for the Indians.

Hank Aguirre cattered 11 hits and won his 10th game against four losses behind a Detroit attack that included homers by Calce Brown, Norm Cash and Dick McAuliffe. West Stock, who was rapped for five hits and four runs in 4 1-3 innings, suffered his fourth loss.

Jim Maloney And Milt Pappas Expected To Start Tomorrow

By LEO H. PETERSEN
UPI Sports Editor

MINNEAPOLIS—St. Paul 8/11 — Jim Maloney and Milt Pappas, a pair of expert "beaver" right-handers who have practically pleaded for the assignment, were expected to be named the starting pitchers today for Tuesday's 37th All-Star game.

Rival managers Gene Mauch of the National League and Al Lopez of the American League were to announce their choices at a morning press conference and the betting was that Maloney and Pappas finally will get their long-sought opportunity to start an All-Star game.

Maloney, never even on an All-Star squad before, has won 10 games for the Cincinnati Reds this season and lost four, including an 11-inning game against the New York Mets in which he pitched hitless ball for 10 innings.

Third Appearance

Pappas is making his third appearance on an All-Star squad but his two previous assignments were in relief and he was not involved in any decisions. He has a 9-4 record for the Baltimore Orioles and openly asked Lopez for the starting assignment, proving his readiness for it with a four hit 1-0 victory over Lopez' Chicago White Sox last Friday night.

Lopez told Pappas not to worry about the assignment, assuring him he was "likely to see a lot of action" because he was well rested.

Unlike All-Star contests in recent years, a number of the pitchers in this one will come up to Tuesday's game well rested.

Maloney, like Pappas, pitched Friday night, defeating the Milwaukee Braves. And his manager, Dick Slater, told him after the game: "You won't touch a ball again until Tuesday."

No matter who the starting pitchers are, the National League was favored at 7-5 to go ahead in this All-Star series for the first time. Each league has won 17 of the past 36 games with one tie. There was a last-minute change in the American League squad, Joe Pepitone of the Yankees replacing Bill Skowron of the White Sox, who is out with a side injury.

Skowron was voted to start at first base by the players.

With Skowron out, Lopez was expected to start Harmon Killebrew.

Woman's World

Dear Abby

He's Brutally Frank!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: For his high school graduation gift, my brother sent our son a check for $25 made out to one of our town's leading psychiatrists. I thought it was a joke, so I called my brother and he said, "It was no joke — he couldn't think of anything the kid could use more."

Please understand, Abby, our son is not crazy. He has had a little trouble finding himself, but that is not uncommon in teen-agers today. The check was addressed to our son, so he opened it. He wasn't hurt or insulted. He just looked puzzled and said he was going to use it. I'm afraid to tell my husband for fear he'll take my brother apart. What do you make of this?

DAZED IN CHAMBRIDGE
DEAR DAZED: Your brother may have meant well, but he was grossly presumptuous. Since the boy wants to use it, covering his A's with a psychiatrist won't hurt anyone who doesn't need it.

DEAR ABBY: Arthur and I have been married almost a year. We are both in our late 30's. This is our second marriage and my husband, I am determined to make this marriage work. A woman couldn't waste a second, nor could I afford to be a housewife, but he believes in TOGETHERNESS until I could scream. We have a brand new five-room bungalow, and Arthur doesn't see me, he goes looking for me. He even has to be right beside me in the kitchen when I'm cooking. There ARE times when I do need his help for carrying the trash, etc., but how can I get it across to him that when I NEED him, I will tell him? He's very sensitive and I don't want to hurt his feelings. Please answer this through your column as this is a classic example of what is happening to our nation. Because the mothers have not taught their children to be responsible and to work for what they get, we now have a large percentage of adults who expect something for nothing and this is the attitude that promotes the Welfare State, and eventually Socialism. Why can't we see it is beyond me. I am married to a woman who refuses to teach responsibility to her children. How I wish that I could convince her that she is cheating them instead of helping them. And all in the name of "love."

CONFIDENTIAL TO LILY: Don't wait too long. Time may be a marvelous healer, but it's a very poor beautician.

Broach-Erwin Wedding Vows Are Read At South Pleasant Grove Methodist Church

Mr. and Mrs. James Leslie Erwin

The sanctuary of the South Pleasant Grove Methodist Church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Sharilyn Kay Broach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Broach of Murray Route One, to James Leslie Erwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Warren Erwin, 516 South Eighth Street, Murray.

Rev. Hoyt W. Owen performed the double ring ceremony on Saturday, June 19, at eight o'clock in the evening.

Fluminated tapers across the wrought iron arch cast a lovely glow on the wedding party as they stood at the altar. Baskets of white gladioli were on either side of the arch flanked by the seven-branched candelabra. Greenery completed the altar decorations. The family pews were marked with white satin bows.

Mrs. J. W. Jones, cousin of the bride, was the pianist and played several selections including the traditional wedding marches for the processional and the recessional. Miss Diane West sang "On Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly," and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt on a kneeling bench.

The candles were lighted by Tanny Barnes and Tommy Paschall. The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her floor length wedding gown of white peau de soie. The dress was fashioned with a straight panel in the front with fullness in the back extending into a long train. Of special interest in the back was the special self fold bow with streamers to the floor and a self material rose on the large bow. Medallions were on the front of the dress and the long pointed sleeves and the back of the dress was fastened with tiny self covered buttons. Her veil of illusion was attached to a double crown of white seeded pearls and her only jewelry was her pearl earrings, gift of the groom.

She wore a dress of blue whipped cream designed like the attendants except for short puffed sleeves and a short full skirt with a bow in the back. Her headpiece was like that of the attendants. She carried a pink basket filled with rose petals. Serving as best man for the groom was his father. The groomsmen Gary Miller, Teddy Clark, Larry Ochoa, and Darrell Clark.

Monty Wilson, cousin of the groom, was the ringbearer and carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

For her daughter's wedding the bride's mother wore a blue silk lined dress with matching jacket. Her blue straw hat was trimmed in blue velvet with which she wore white gloves, white shoes, and a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Erwin chose to wear a pink linen dress with a pink straw hat, pink shoes, white gloves, and a corsage of white carnations.

Miss Layetta Erwin kept the register at the church.

Following the ceremony the couple left for a short wedding trip with the bride wearing a green silk linen two piece suit with white gloves and black patent accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid.

Mrs. Erwin is a 1955 graduate of Calloway County High School and plans to enter Murray State College this fall. The groom is a student at Murray State College. They are residing in their trailer home on Murray Route One.

Rehearsal Dinner
Mr. and Mrs. Erwin, the groom's parents, were hosts for the rehearsal dinner held at the Southern Restaurant on Friday evening.

The bridal couple presented gifts to their attendants.

Centering the table was a lovely arrangement of pink gladioli. The favors were pink net bags filled with dried pink rose to shower the couple following the wedding.

Covers were laid for twenty-seven persons.

The flower girl was Miss Teresa Cunningham, niece of the bride.

THIS ISN'T HAPPENING—Since the U.S. does not recognize Communist China, we have no diplomatic relations with that nation. So this scene in Warsaw, Poland, is strictly nonexistent. It is one of the series of meetings between the U.S. ambassador, John M. Cabot (second left), and the Red China ambassador, Wang Kuo-chuan (right). Topic: They aren't saying. (Cablephoto)

WHAT HAD HAPPENED in the town of La Sourdisse was a curious thing. It was a small town, a village of about 100 people, and it was a quiet place. But in the middle of the night, a strange light appeared in the sky. It was a bright, white light, and it was moving. It was moving towards the town. The people of La Sourdisse were frightened. together weigh three and one-quarter pounds. All from the same hill he says and there were three or four more smaller ones.

He used no fertilizer. Mr. Stone, who lives on South 9th Street is quite a gardener.

Our erudite friend D. J. Miller writes concerning the spoonful incident.

"I enjoyed the spoon — discussion in Sees and Heard and was just about to write you when I saw that my good friend, Fred Gingles, has set the matter straight.

Now comes an expression that has, for years, been the bane of my existence. It is the "Try and" expression. If one takes time to think about it, it is so illogical as to be next to silly. Yet I find it used again and again in books by good authors who, for the most part, speak otherwise good English.

They say try and be on time, be sure and read, etc. Try and win — one may try and not win — and it is conceivable that one might win without trying.

Bennett Cerf (who is admittedly illiterate) says, "Try and stop me". Would that we might persuade people to try to — Respectfully yours, D. J. Miller Covey Drive

Dr. E. E. Tisdale of Benton route five and says "regarding your column July 1 on the loud mouth Blue Jay."

"For your information when they see a snake crawling on the ground they set up a screaming war cry and will turn a group of 15 to 20 birds and follow the snake's movement. With this warning I killed a four and one-half foot snake on July 4. They never fail to warn you."

Thanks Dr. Tisdale. The Blue Jay is quite a robber too and the Catbird with some eggs or little ones will send him pecking if he comes snooping around.

Which reminds us of the squirrel someone told us about who made his living by robbing a bird feeder.

The birds strenuously objected to this and would try to attack the squirrel, but he just crawled down under the feeder, which was in a tree, where it was difficult to attack him, and eat his fill gotten gains.

Apparently he had no conscience because as soon as he finished, he went back for more.

We drove by a skunk on the highway the other day which someone had run over and this particular skunk vindicated Mark Anthony who said that "the evil that men doth liveth after them."

TROOP STRENGTH

The Marines killed one guerrilla and captured seven suspects. The Marines hit back at the Viet Cong after snipers fired on a Marine patrol. The Americans discovered many tunnels, trenches, and gun positions built by the Communists.

In the air, 54 planes from the Air Force and Navy were involved in the five raids. Their targets included the Yen Bue and Yen Sun ammunition dumps, both northwest of Hanoi, where also tons of bombs were dropped by Air Force planes and the Mai Linh army barracks, hit by planes from the aircraft-carrier Independence.

The First Infantry Division, known as "Big Red One" for its distinctive shoulder patch, won many battle streamers during combat in Europe and Africa in World War II.

Today's landing was made amid reports from Communist China that "a shock brigade" of North Vietnamese volunteers has received an active assignment to resist alleged American aggression, presumably in South Viet Nam.

The Hanoi regime said recent landings by American and other foreign troops in South Viet Nam was "a reckless move."

An American spokesman said the U.S. infantrymen landed today were part of the announced buildup to combat the increasingly heavy Communist offensive in South Viet Nam's Central Highlands.

The American troops are members of the division's Second Brigade based at Ft. Riley, Kan. The infantrymen debarked from the transport ship USS Gordon at a crude dock constructed last month by U.S. Army Engineers.

Cam Ranh Bay is one of the most perfectly sheltered harbors in the world, although its waters are shark-infested and extremely dangerous for any amphibious landing.

The troops began landing under bright skies at 9:40 a.m. as U.S. jets circled overhead on the alert for any Communist harassment. There was none.

Legion Team Loses To Bowling Green

The Murray Legion lost to Bowling Green Friday afternoon at Bowling Green with a score of 12 to 1. The game was closer than the score indicates as seven runs were unearned on Murray's misuses. Murray got its lone score in the fifth as Tidwell was hit by a pitched ball. West drilled a single up the middle and Slesnek got a hit down the first base line, scoring Tidwell. Warren and Tidwell also had a hit each.

Bowling Green collected 8 hits, Lloyd and Vance getting two each and Mahoney getting a double.
